Prevention and education resources at MU include:

RSVP Center

The Relationship and Sexual Violence Prevention (RSVP) Center is committed to decreasing the prevalence of rape, sexual assault, relationship violence and stalking by creating a campus culture that does not tolerate violence.

Professional RSVP Center staff members provide confidential crisis intervention and advocacy services for survivors of violence, while student staff and student organizations hold many educational programs and events throughout the year for the campus community.

Those services include:

- Green Dot Program
  - This program encourages bystander intervention. RSVP staff train individuals on intervention techniques, so they can act when a friend might be at risk for sexual assault. Individuals are trained to do the following:
    - Direct confrontation
    - Delegate to a third party
    - Distraction.
  - When an individual intervenes in a situation, they are encouraged to place a “Green Dot” on a campus map in the RSVP Center. The goal is to have many more green dots on the map than red dots, which represent a site where an act of violence took place.

- Not Anymore Training
  - Not Anymore training is an interactive online program designed to prevent sexual assault, dating and domestic violence, bullying, sexual harassment, and stalking. The program targets college-aged students and is customized to each university. MU’s Not Anymore training takes about an hour.
  - MU is requiring the Not Anymore training for any incoming students and is encouraging all students to take the training.

- Peer Educators
  - RSVP peer educators receive training on sexual assault, rape, intimate partner violence and stalking. They work to increase awareness about the prevalence of and factors contributing to relationship and sexual violence.
  - Peer educators conduct presentations, assist with events and volunteer at the RSVP Center.

Missouri Students Association

The Missouri Students Association (MSA) is the recognized undergraduate student government at MU. MSA provides students with a range of services and programs, working with other student organizations and the MU administration.

- “It’s On Us”
  - An national initiative adopted by the Missouri Students Association to prevent sexual assault on the MU campus.
  - Students are encouraged to take a pledge stating their commitment to stopping sexual assault. The campaign provides information about sexual assault and tips on how individuals can intervene if they see someone that might be at risk of sexual assault or harassment.

Intercollegiate Athletics

- “See it, Hear it, Own it”
o “See It, Hear It, Own It,” also known as SHO-Up, reflects the expectation that all student-athletes and staff will bring sexual violence concerns to the attention of the appropriate authorities.
o Sexual harassment, sexual assault, and sexual misconduct policies, including a non-retaliation policy, are shared with all student-athletes during their fall squad meetings. Such policies are also expressed to athletics staff during departmental meetings at the beginning of the academic year.
o Student-athletes and intercollegiate athletics staff receive SHO-Up! wristbands and t-shirts as reminders, and on the fourth Friday of each month, the athletics department promotes SHO-Up by encouraging all staff and student-athletes to wear their SHO-Up shirt as a visual reminder of their responsibility in this area.
o A monthly reminder to the staff and student-athletes contains an educational message about Title IX and sexual violence.

Student Health

Student Health Services offers medical, behavioral health and wellness programs for all MU students. The department is staffed with more than 25 health professionals, including primary care physicians, psychiatrists, nurse practitioners, psychologists and certified health specialists.

SHAPE

Sexual Health Advocate Peer Education (SHAPE) is a peer education program through Student Health Services that trains peer educators who lead sexual health programming and advocacy events using a variety of fun, interactive methods in a safe and nonjudgmental format.

- The SHAPE program helps students understand that they own their own body and therefore, must accept responsibility for it by:
  - Engaging in open and honest communication with their peers about sexual health issues
  - Respecting themselves and others by understanding their rights as sexual beings and engaging in non-exploitative relationships
  - Educating students how to prevent the transmission of sexually transmitted infections and unintentional pregnancies as well as knowing the physical and emotional effects of sexual intimacy
  - Teaching students to enjoy their relationships according to their values.

Greek Life

Pan-Hellenic Association

The Panhellenic Association is the governing body overseeing the recognized sororities on the MU campus. The association holds frequent events for the PHA community and focuses on service, scholarship and leadership.

PHA recently announced the implementation of a Sexual Violence Education Plan that includes the following:

- New Member peer educations – approximately 10 members of each chapter’s pledge class are taking part in focused education training and will be challenged to have informal conversations with their peers about bystander intervention and other topics.
- Education –
  - Chapters are required to host special education sessions with all new members and with the entire house. The programs are designed in collaboration with PHA, the RSVP Center and the MU Title IX Office.
- Support Training Summit – all chapter executive leaders are required to attend a summit on sexual violence education as well as training for how to respond to situations involving sexual violence.

InterFraternity Council

The InterFraternity Council is the governing body overseeing the recognized fraternities on the MU campus. Recently, the council has been partnering with the RSVP Center to train peer educators. These peer educators will work with members in the fraternities and educate them about alcohol policies and sexual assault.

Additionally, a new alcohol policy restricting the use of hard liquor in the fraternities’ houses is aimed at reducing the risk of alcohol-related injuries and sexual assault.
